QUINCY, PLUMAS CO., CAL.
SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1866.

EXCELLENT ROCK.—Some weeks ago, says the Humboldt Register, we mentioned that parties were out prospecting, in hope of discovering a continuation of the famous Poor Man's ledge. Yesterday we saw samples of extraordinary rich ore, apparently—in fact, beyond question richer than has ever been found in large quantities anywhere that we know of. The parties claim to have found the nearest possible thing to a mountain of silver—these rich sulphurets cropping in several lines, and giving evidences of a mass of silver and gold such as would gladden the heart of any weary prospector. They describe the locality as abounding in water and timber, and as being admirably situated for working; but it is yet the "unknown"—the parties not yet having their arrangements in satisfactory shape.

TIME'S CHANGES.—The local of the Alta California gives the following graphic instance of the changes wrought in a few years in the condition of some of the parties who embark in the fluctuating game of mining speculation:

"A few days since a sick man was taken from the What Cheer House to the County Hospital, being too sick to work, and too poor to procure a dinner or a night's lodging. Two or three years since this man was worth his hundreds of thousands, and was a large holder in the best mines in Washoe. He became estranged from his family, was divorced from his wife, and finally sunk into the lowest depths of poverty. Only a few days since some of the members of this man's family recovered a judgment for a considerable sum, in a mining stock suit, but the man who was once a husband and father is indebted to the city of San Francisco for permission to occupy a poor cot in the common hospital."

WELL-BRED DOG.—The Grass Valley National says: It seems that there is a dog in this town that has been trained by some vagrant to steal bread for him, and bring it to him in the brush. We saw the faithful quadruped, this morning, hurrying off from Pollard's with a huge French roll in his mouth and making for the chapparel with a whole pack of hungry hounds behind him. He kept the bread out of their reach, not stopping to taste it himself, and increasing his speed at every jump. In the distance, on the hill side, could be seen the ragged vagrant, awaiting his arrival. The fun of the matter is that the dog belongs to a very honest man, but has been disciplined by the vagrant during his strolls around town.

HARD ON CRIMINALS.—A country chap, who recently visited San Francisco for the first time, gives his views of the ladies in the following way:

Somewhere in every circumference of silk and velvet that wriggles along there is always a woman, I suppose; but how much of the boller is filled in with meat, and how much is gauze, the spectator don't no. A feller marries a site, and finds, when it comes to the p'int, that he has nuthin' in his arms but a regular anatomy. Ef men is gay de-severs, wot's to be said of the female that dresses for a hundred and forty weight, but hasn't reely as much fat as would grease a griddle—all the apparent plumpness consisting of cotton and whalebone.

CAVE DISCOVERED UNDER NASHVILLE.—A Nashville, Tennessee, dispatch of Oct. 28th says: "Parties have, for several days, been exploring the subterranean passage under Nashville. A Stewart descended one hundred and twenty feet from the cavern under Church street, yesterday, into the chasm below, and was drawn out, nearly suffocated by foul air. Several relics were discovered and also fossils, bones, buttons, stones, resembling eggs; also, agates and marble. The grand chamber of the cave is forty feet high, thirty feet wide and eighty feet long. Further explorations are being made."

ABSENT MINDED.—One of the greatest cases of absent mindedness of which we have ever heard, says the Nevada Transcript, occurred in this city a few days since. A butcher cut off a fine steak which had been ordered by a customer, and throwing it upon his block, wrapped his cleaver in a piece of paper and put it in a basket. He then marched off to the customer's residence, some half mile distant, and did not discover the mistake till the laugh of "Biddy" called his attention to the basket.

RICH WIDOW.—Queen Victoria, says the London correspondent of the New York Times, is far richer than the late King Leopold, or than is probably any sovereign in Europe. She receives a large sum, spends little, gives less, has all her expenses paid, and her property is accumulating to an enormous amount. All her children are provided for by the State, and if she lives forty years longer, as she well may, coming of a long-lived family, she will be worth more millions than any one but a Rothschild could realize.

ONANTHOLOGICAL.—The infant delights in crows, but hates the thrush; some lunatics are raven mad; gluttons are fond of swallows; persons with a bad cold indulge in hawks; gamblers like pigeons and gulls; thieves go in for a robin; fast men glory in a lark; and a good husband loves his little duck of a wife.

A new style of pictures are being taken, called Tingotypes, said to be pretty and cheap.

A SCORE OF YEARS AGO.

Down by the breaking waves we stood,
Upon the rocky shore;
The brave waves whistled courage,
And bid with friendly roar
The faltering words that told the tale
I dared not tell before.

I said, it with the priceless gift,
Her love my life she'd bless.
Was it her voice, or some fair wave—
Forsooth, I scarce may guess—
Some murmuring wave, or her sweet voice,
That his'd so sweetly "Yes?"

And then, in happy silence, too,
I clasp'd her fair, wee hand;
And long we stood there, careless,
While o'er the darkening land
The sun set and the fishing boat
Were sailing from the strand.

It seemed not many years ago—
Like yesterday—no more,
Since thus we stood, my love and I,
Upon the rocky shore;
But I was four-and-twenty then,
And now I'm forty-four.

The lily hand is thinner now,
And in her sunny hair
I see some silvery lines, and on
Her brow some lines of care;
But, wrinkled brow, or silver locks,
She's not one whit less fair.

The fishing boat a score of years
Go sailing from the strand;
The crimson sun a score of years
Sets o'er the darkening land;
And here to-night upon the cliff
We're standing hand in hand.

"My darling there's our eldest girl,
Down on the rocks below!
What's Stanley doing by her side?"
My wife says, "You should know:
He's telling her what you told me
A score of years ago."

[Once a Week.]

TENDER AND TRUE AND TRIED.

Tender and true,
You kept faith with me,
As I kept faith with you;
Though over us both
Since we plighted troth
Long years have rolled;
But our love could hold
Through troubles and trials manifold,
My darling tender and true!

Tender and true,
In your eye I gazed,
And my heart was safe, I knew!
Your true true smile
Was pure of guile,
And I read in sooth
On your brow's fair youth
The earnest of loyal trust and truth,
My darling tender and true!

Tender and true,
All my eyes at last!
My blessing for all life through—
In death as life
My one loved wife—
Mine—mine at last,
All troubles past—
And the future all happiness, deep and vast,
My darling tender and true!

INITIAL FACTS IN OUR HISTORY.—Our children are taught French, moral science and comic sections, and read history of Greece and Rome. How few of them, and how few of the women, know anything of the history of their own country, except an outline of a few detached facts. How few under graduates know that Columbus undertook his first voyage in the expectation of finding the Great Kalin of Tartary; that he set sail on Friday, 1492—that unlucky and direful day—and on Friday, ten weeks after, he discovered land; that he supposed Cuba to be the continent; that he first pushed the continent on the north coast of North America six years afterward; that upon his fourth and last voyage he founded the first colony on the main land on the Isthmus of Panama; that twenty-one years after the first discovery, the Old World was astonished to find they had discovered a New World, when they reached the Pacific across the Isthmus; but that Cabot, an Englishman, reached the shores of New England full year before Columbus touched the continent; that San Augustine, Florida, is the oldest town in America, being just 300 years old; that Santa Fe, New Mexico, is the second town in point of age; that twenty years later—1602—California was discovered and explored; that in 1603 a Frenchman, Sieur de Monts, made the first settlement north of San Augustine, at Annapolis, and twice attempted a settlement at Cape Cod, but was driven off by the natives; that Champlain founded Quebec in 1608; that our coast from Pennsylvania to New Brunswick, was named Acadia, afterward New France; that Canada formerly comprehended our Vermont and New York; that Virginia was so named by Walter Raleigh, in honor of Queen Elizabeth, 1584, when he made his exploration of the North Carolina Coast; that the first English child born in America was Virginia Dare, daughter of Ananias; that the projected colony failed; that Jamestown was the first English town in America, began 1607, and named for James I.; that the vast of waves in Virginia was so great that in 1631 a large number of young women, "of good character," were transported to the colony on speculation, and sold to the lonely settlers for a hundred and twenty to a hundred and fifty pounds of tobacco each; that New England was so named by John Smith, 1614; that a length a settlement was made, without a grant from the King's Council, at New Plymouth, and sent its roots deep and wide into the scanty soil by a band of 102 passengers, Dec. 11, 1620, who came in a small craft whose name has been spoken from the ocean to the orient, to-wit: the "May Flower."

A lady observed a policeman enter her house by the basement door the other evening, and as he remained about half an hour, the lady sent for her cook to know why the officer had called.

"If ye please, mum," said the cook, "he was just a tryin' the basement door, to see if it was locked, when he found a false key a stickin' in the lock, and he's just with me until the burglar comes in, when he's going to nab him and march him off to the station house. He's a nice fellow, mum, and he wouldn't see your house robbed—not if he knows it. I think he's dry mum; shall I give him some of master's brandy? If the thief doesn't come to-night, the ossifer is to drop in on an evenin' now and then, when he thinks the burglar is about to come. Oh, he's so interestin' mum, always tellin' stories about murderers and such vagabonds."

HOME RULES.—1. From your children's earliest infancy, inculcate the necessity of instant obedience.

2. Unite firmness with gentleness. Let your children always understand that you mean exactly what you say.

3. Never promise anything unless you are sure you can give them what you promise.

4. If you tell a child to do anything, show him how to do it, and see that it is done.

5. Always punish your children for willfully disobeying you, but never punish in anger.

6. Never let them perceive that they can vex you or make you lose your self-command.

7. If they give way to petulance or temper, wait till they are calm, and then gently reason with them on the impropriety of their conduct.

8. Remember that a little present punishment, when the occasion arises, is much better than the threatening of a greater punishment should the fault be renewed.

THE COCKNEY.
BY JOHN G. SAIZ.

It was in my foreign travel,
At a famous Flemish inn,
That I met a stoutish person
With a very ruddy skin;
And his hair was something sandy,
And was done in knotty curls;
And he parted in the middle,
In the manner of a girl.
He was clad in chequered trousers,
And his coat was of a sort
To suggest a steady pattern,
It was bobbed so very short;
And his cap was very little,
Such as soldiers often use;
And he wore a pair of gaiters,
And extremely heavy shoes.
I addressed the man in English,
And he answered in the same,
Though he spoke it in a fashion
That I thought a little lame:
For the aspirate was missing
Where the letter should have been,
But where'er it wasn't wanted
He was sure to put it in!
When I spoke with admiration
Of St. Peter's mighty dome,
He remarked: "It's really nothing
To the dome we have at home!"
And declared upon his honor—
Though of course 'twas very queer—
That he doubted if the Romans
Ad the art of making beer.
Then we talked of other countries
And he said that he had heard
That Americans spoke English;
But he deemed it as absurd.
Yet he felt the deepest interest
In the missionary work,
And would like to know if Georgia
Was in Boston or New York!
When I left the man in gaiters
He was grumbling o'er his gin,
And the charges of the hostess
Of that famous Flemish inn;
And he looked a very Briton,
(So, methinks I see him still)
As he pocketed the candle
That was mentioned in the bill.

KEO CHARLES OF FRANCE once remarked to his fool that he thought they had better exchange places.
Jean did not look well pleased at the proposal, and Charles asked him if he were not content with the idea of being a king.
"Oh, content enough," was the reply,
"but I should be exceedingly ashamed at having such a fool."
It was this fool who once tried his master's nerve by rushing into his room one morning with the exclamation:
"Oh, sire, such news! Four thousand men have risen in the city this morning!"
"What?" cried the startled king; "with what intention have they risen?"
"Probably," said Jean, with his finger on his nose, "with the intention of laying down again at bed time."—His majesty "saw it."

LORD CHATHAM.—Lord Chatham had needed a plan for some sea expedition he had in view, and sent to Lord Anson to see the necessary arrangements taken immediately. Mr. Cleaveland was sent from the Admiralty to remonstrate on the impossibility of obeying them. He found his lordship in the most exasperating pain, from one of the most severe fits of the gout he ever experienced. "Impossible, sir," said he, "don't talk to me of impossibilities;"
and then raising himself upon his legs, while the sweat stood in large drops upon his forehead, and every fibre of his body was convulsed with agony, "Go, sir, and tell his lordship that he has to do with a minister who actually treads on impossibility."

An old lawyer was giving advice to his son, who was just entering upon the practice of his father's profession:
"My son," said the counselor, "if you have a case where the law is clearly on your side, urge upon the jury the vast importance of sustaining the law. If, on the other hand, you are in doubt about the law, but your client's case is founded in justice, insist on the necessity of doing justice, though the heavens fall!"
"But," asked the son, "how shall I manage a case where both law and justice are dead against me?"
"In that case, my son, talk round it, talk round it!"

A Boston editor says: The day the result of the trial of Mary Harris was announced, the following interesting conversation was overheard: "Carrie, dear, will you please lend me your revolver? I fear George will not be true to his promise to-night." "Why Emma! I'm so sorry! I've just lent my revolver to a man who has found a bear with over so much more money than Alfred; but, dear, I can let you have my ivory-handled stiletto, with much pleasure. Be kind enough, love, to wipe the blood off it before you return the little toy."

A TRAVELER stopping at a western hotel exclaimed one morning to the waiter: "What are you about, you black rascal! You have roused me twice from my sleep by telling me breakfast was ready, and now you are asleeping to sleep on the bed clothes."
"Why," replied Pompey, "if you can't give me to get up, I must have the sheet, anyhow, 'cause dey's waitin' for de table cloth."

SPIRITUAL ORRIS.—At a spiritual picnic near Newburgh, the other day, seven women were brutally outraged, two men killed, five wounded and fourteen robbed, not only of their watches and pocket monies, but of their clothes, so that they were compelled to hide in the woods all night. In the morning they contrived to communicate with certain persons passing in the vicinity, who furnished them with raiment enough to get home.

"INTERESTING EVENTS" are occasions when a nurse takes possession of the house, and the husband sleeps on the sofa. Ba-bians are the tyrants of the world. The Emperor must tread softly—baby sleeps.
Monarchs must keep their noses quiet—baby sleeps. Priests must drop their hammer and chisel—baby sleeps. Demosthenes must be dumb—baby sleeps.

EXPLICIT.—On the sands of Scullercoats, near Synemouth, a board has been fixed,
on which is inscribed the following notice:
"Any person passing beyond this point will be drowned, by order of the magistrate."

On a fence in Berkshire is painted in glaring capitals "Use Dr. Prior's Cough Balm," and just below "Buy your grave motes in Pittsfield."

"John, did Mrs. Green get the medicine I ordered?" "I guess so," replied John.
"I saw drops on her door the next morning."

TRIAL.—Teamsters may do brisk business, but wheelbarrow men carry all before them.

NOT A FEW

Of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Blood. Of all the diseases that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood, instills the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy, that could be relied on has been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend.
Our space here does not admit of certificates to show the effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever known.
